BLACK ON BLACK

Black and white are totally opposite colors, but still they go together. From this we can say that opposites really do attract.

This same idea can be associated with the friends that we choose. Do you and your friends like to do the same things, go to the same places, take the same classes? For many of us this is probably true, but still there is a friend that is the total opposite of yourself. Black and White.

At school we still are exposed to even more people. Here is where we will make the friends that we will always remember.

HOMECOMING

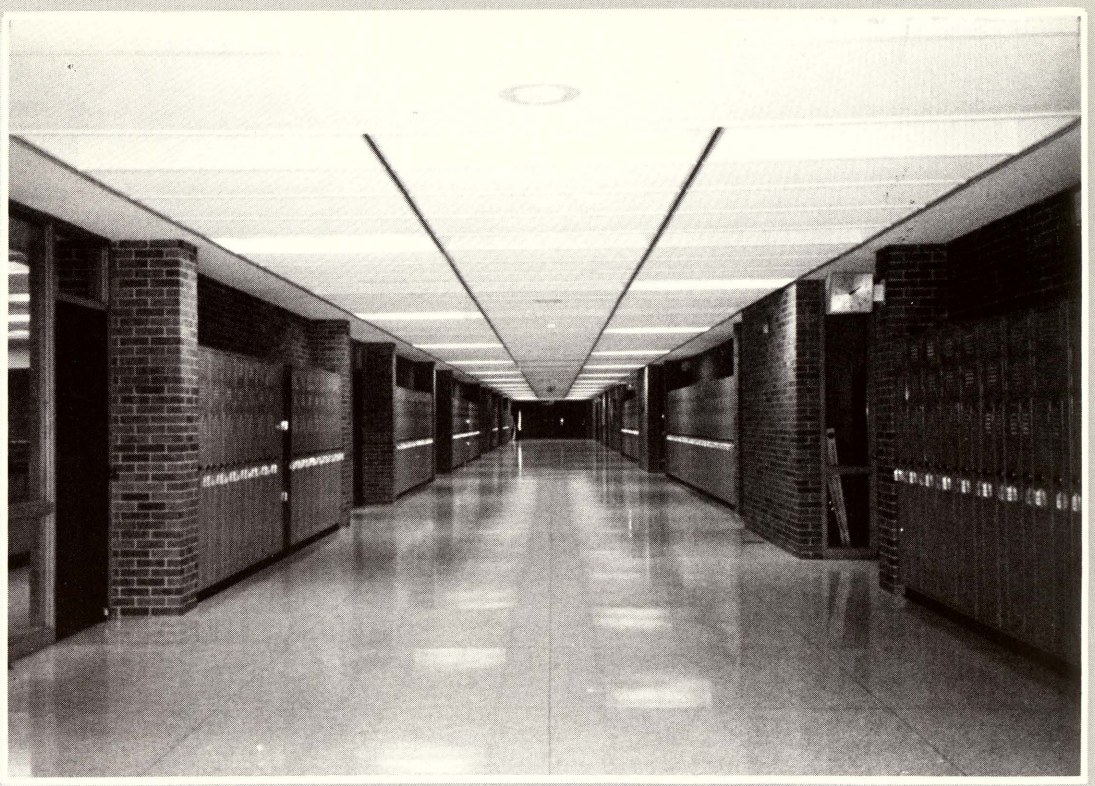
THESE ARE THE TIMES TO

REMEMBER

The Queen and Her Court
The highlight of the evening is the announcement of the Homecoming Queen. This announcement creates many mixed emotions, as seen in the above picture.
1988-89 Homecoming Queen and Court: Laura Coutz, Kristi Callison, Lori Bush, Queen Angie Stevens, Julie Dunkle, Chris Jagels, Amy Gustin.

Hey, Where did everyone go?

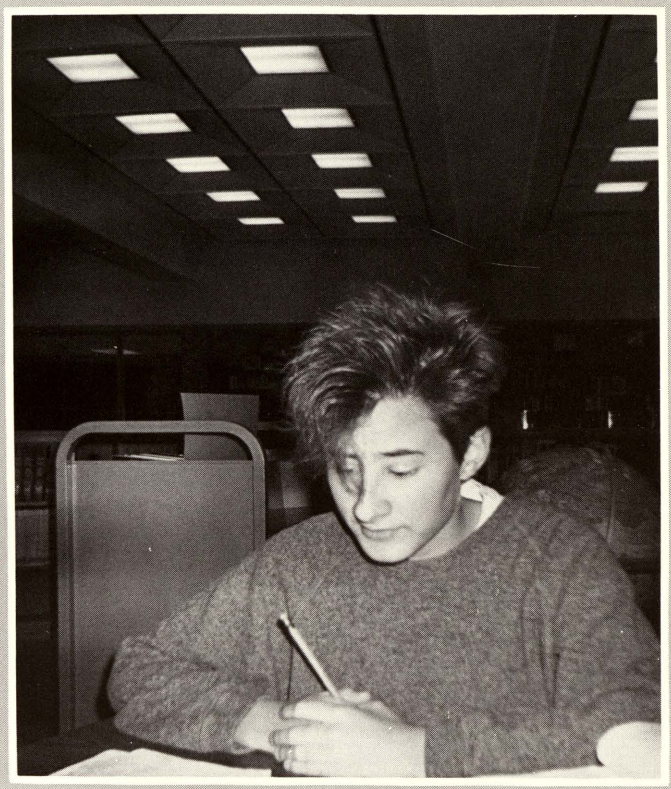
This hallway may be deserted now, but usually it is full of activity. The right side has been utilized by the Community Education Department and has been renovated to include a lounge and also a daycare center for enrichment and high school completion students. To the left are Mr. Schrems, Mrs. Tesauro, Dr. Sanger and Mr. Nassif's classrooms.



New Laz-E-Boy's?

No, just a few new desks and the entire cafeteria filled with new tables and chairs. Students John Montgomery, Stacy Syrek, and Amy Marsden found these when they returned from summer vacation. The most noticable change though was what lay beneath the tables and chairs. Could it really be BLUE carpet? Yes, the old orange carpeting has been replaced with the new BLUE carpeting.

Changes



The school library underwent some major changes. Since the middle school has a library, it is SVHS library. All junior high books had to be removed which left Ms. Whitman with a disorganized mess. "When they put the carpeting in, everything was shoved to one side and then back again," stated Ms. Whitman. After all the books were removed and then returned, the library was once again ready for students. Sophomore Deanna Hardy uses the library to research information for her assignment.

Smooothh

Remember those nasty potholes that plagued the parking lot, they no longer exist. During the summer the entire parking lot and service drive to the middle school were resurfaced. The parking lot was marked with a new handicap parking area and also six visitor spaces for people who come to the Community Education Office.

Outshine the Rest!

"Vikings Outshine the Rest," was the theme of the junior float. It was an original float consisting of a huge diamond and seven smaller diamonds held by juniors riding on the float. These diamonds represented teams in the Tri-Valley Conference.

Purple, white and gold balloons were launched when the float reached the fifty yard line. They symbolized the blowing away of the Garber Dukes. Though it was hard work by a small group of juniors, the float reminded the class of their spirit. — Tammy Smith

Juniors began to look at colleges during the fall of '88. College representatives came to meet with upperclassmen. Usually, the college representative presented the outstanding features of his college. He told the students what kind of grade point average they needed as well as what kind of ACT or SAT scores were needed for admission to his particular school. The representative also tried to give the students a picture of residency hall living. The schools represented were: Alma, Northwood, Grand Valley State, Michigan State, Central Michigan, Adrian, Saginaw Valley State, Northern Michigan, Oakland, and Delta.

VIKES
DUKE IT OUT

The sophomore class float "Duke it Out" featured two football players wearing boxing gloves in a football field inside a boxing ring. Homecoming game was played against the Garber Dukes.

The actual building of the float was done at Heidi Burmeister's house. The float took two weeks to complete. Brent Eurich commented "The best part was having pizza afterwards."

Many sophomores took time out after school to build the float. "I felt we worked hard and it turned out pretty good. It may not have been the best but we had a great time working on it," stated Sarah Jacob.

Although the float did not win, it showed the spirit and teamwork of the sophomore class.

ACADEMIC OLYMPICS DISTRICT CHAMPIONS — A FIRST

WAY TO GO, SV! For the first time in school history, SV participated in the Academic Olympics which were sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. The team beat Nouvel in the championship match on April 20, 1989. The team advanced to the district finals by defeating Valley Lutheran and Heritage. The prizes were the travelling trophy and five-hundred dollars.

The team travelled to Port Huron for the state meet. The members defeated White Cloud but lost to class A Eisenhower (Utica) and to the 1988 champions Detroit Catholic.

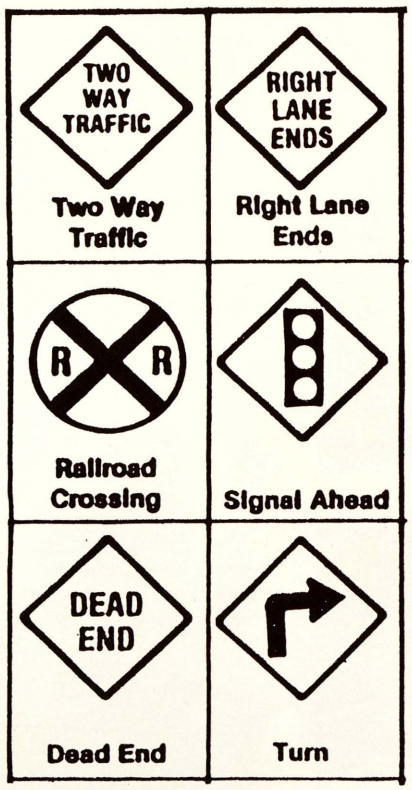
BEHIND THE WHEEL



FINALLY . . .

Many ninth and tenth grade students thought this as they started Drivers Ed. Some of them were nervous to actually get behind the wheel.The classes were taught during the summer.

In the classroom they learned all the signs you see while driving and the different tarffic laws.Then the students took the test to find out if they get their permit.

" It's going to be fun this summer learning how to drive" said Lori Frank.

"I'm excited to get my permit to drive" said Jody Prenzler.

The teachers for these classes were Mr. Miller, Mr. Trombley and Mr. Bowden.

Brandi Chinery is a counter girl at Sullivan's West. She works fifteen hours a week. She commented, "It's okay working there; it's better than fast food".

Carrie Smith works at Johnnie's Bonanza. She has a varity of jobs which includes running dinners, working the cash register, and working drinks. She said, "It's okay at Johnnie's. It's extra money, and you meet new people". Carrie works twenty-five to thirty hours a week. — Tina Lopez

LEARNING

CAN BE FUN!

What is CAS? It is an abbreviation for The Center for the Arts and Sciences or The Center. It is a school where students show their own individual talents.

Some of the courses The Center offers are voice and theater, instrumental music, visual arts, language arts, dance, math, and science. Students leave school to go there for two to three hours and take one class.

Junior Brenda Pine who has studied voice for the past two years, said, "The thing exciting about CAS is that everything is individual, and you learn at your own speed."

At the Center the teachers are from all different backgrounds and specialize in the fields they teach. The teachers enjoy what they are doing and also have many years of experience in their fields. Brenda also explained, "The CAS has a very exciting atmosphere and everybody there is a special person with a special talent. Everyone is like one big family." — Kris Goodenough

DANCES

FRIDAY NIGHTS AT SV

Besides "cruising Gratiot" and trying to stay out of trouble, what else could people do on Friday nights in Swan Valley. During football and basketball season there were dances which were put on by some of the clubs or organizations.

Dances usually started right after the games and were in the cafeteria. Cheerleaders sponsored them most of the time. Some of the other sponsors were the pon pom girls, SADD, Spanish Club, and the French Club put on a masked ball dance which was something different.

These sponsors put a lot of time into these dances from getting the right D.J. to decorating the night of the dance. The dances were a good fund-raiser for them since students enjoyed having a good time. — Kris Goodenough

VACATIONS

TO MASSACHUSETTS, OHIO, FLORIDA

James Woods travelled to Massachusetts for summer vacation.

He visited his sister in Cape Cod. They shopped and went to the beach. "I had a great time there," said James.

Tricia Kirkbride visited Cedar Point. She enjoyed the Corkscrew and Thunder Canyon.

Kathy Bank enjoyed her excursion to the Capital Theater. "I love concerts," commented Kathy. Her favorite movie is The Rocky Horror Picture Show."

Amy Preece went to Houghton Lake with her friends. "We went to the fun center and stayed at the Holiday Inn where we had a swimming pool and a games room," explained Amy. — Karen Frost

Cheer, Cheer for purple and white.
Get on the field and stand up and fight.
If your grade be nine through twelve,
We won before and we'll win again.
Even if we should fall far behind,
We will give it the old Viking try.

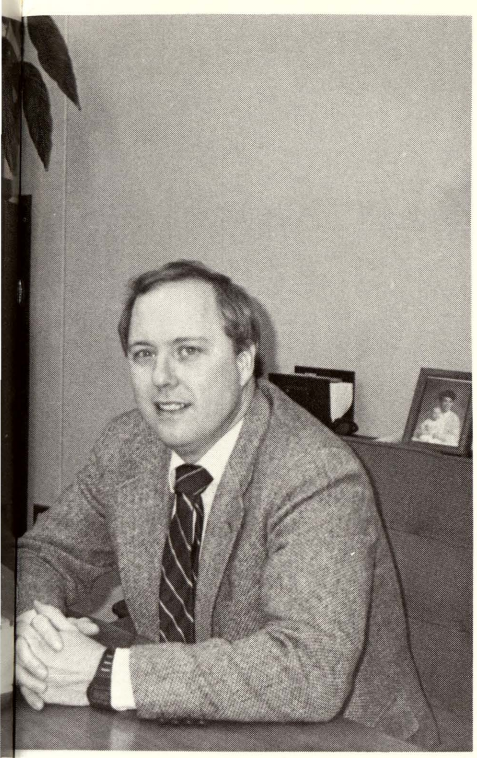
SWAN VALLEY TODAY

OPTIMISTIC HOPES, DREAMS, & AMBITIONS



What were school district's goals and when were they to be reached? Superintendent, Mr. Syrek, said that one goal was to determine the practicality of interactive, two-way television. In addition, the district developed a mission statement which identifies the school district and what it is all about. Another goal was to develop a business association program with Shields. In the works was a teacher recognition program."

All of these goals, and many more, were accomplished by July 1, 1989.

What was the difference between Adult Education and Community Education? Mr. Slade said that Adult Education gave adults who never graduated from high school another chance to graduate. Community Education focused more on lifelong learning. It involved all ages, toddlers through senior citizens. The basic branches of Community Ed. were Adult Enrichment, Youth Enrichment, Adult High School Completion and Senior Citizen Classes. It also involved business communication programs and job placement.

DAY AND NIGHT

WORKING FROM 6:00 A.M. TO 11:00 P.M.

Mr. Cuthberston has been the principal at Swan Valley for 17 years. He enjoyed his job and loved working with students. "No two days are alike, and every day is a new day. When you think you have heard every excuse in the book, a student comes up with a new one. My favorite is the bell rang before I got there," stated Mr. Cuthbertson.

Working in the office was no easy job. Duties included getting report cards to students, sending letters, keeping club and organization financial accounts, plus many other jobs. The secretaries, Mrs. Hausbeck and Mrs. Whaley, took phone calls and messages; they helped students.

Assistant Principal Miss Edereer was also guidance counselor; she worked at SV for 24 years. She enjoyed her work. "The best thing I like about my job is working with the students," said Miss Ederer.

Mrs. Schneider's job at the high school was not only teaching but also being a counselor. She helped with students with social problems.

COMMUNICATION

ENGLISH IS THE KEY

Society today depends on good communication which includes written and oral skills.

Academic English was a class in which students were taught proper sentence structure along with compositions. Sophomore Nikki Neal stated "We participated in a mock interview. In it we learned a lot about jobs and prospective employers." This was something new Academic English II students got to experience. Nikki admitted "I like writing and creating my own stories and plays".

Communications class was required to teach students the basics of communication. "We did a speech on a famous person and worked on a project involving MOIS. We also studied parlimentary procedure." said Kelly Wiggins. "I like working in groups and doing group projects; it makes things easier."

Basic English classes also dealt with grammar and literature. Students learned and studied many American authors.

FRENCH AND SPANISH

A NEW WAY OF LIFE

Bonjour and Hola! These were only two statements learned by the foreign language students.

French I students learned the basics in speech and verb conjugation. "I took French class because I've always wanted to learn as many languages as possible, so if I ever get to travel to Europe, I'll know what every one is saying to me," stated Cathy Banks.

French II students extended their grammar and speech, they also studied French history. "This year was different because we learned many new things; you have to keep up with the class or you will get lost," stated Gretchen Michelson.

The French classes along with the Spanish classes participated in foreign language week. Students labeled the rooms in French and Spanish; they taught mini-lessons in other classes. Some students prepared bulletin boards throughout the school. Both groups participated in secret messages.

Spanish I students learned the basics in everyday conversations such as hello and good-bye; they also learned verb conjugation and vocabulary. "I took Spanish because I thought it would be a challenge and a good experience to learn another language," stated Becky Ferrante.

PEOPLE AND PLACES

PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

Social Studies included the study of people, their activities, and their customs in relationship to others. There were five different areas of Social Studies taught to students.

Freshman were required to take Geography. This class was involved with the earth and its people.

Sophomores were required to take U.S. History. In this class students studied past events. "It helps you to know about things that happened in the past, and why things are the way they are." said Peggy Thompson.

Psychology and Sociology was another social studies class offered. The way people act, think, and feel along with the development of human society were covered.

Government and Economics was the class required for all Seniors. Students learned and discussed many Government related topics. They were educated on the problems of labor, wages, prices and taxes. — Becky Ferrante

THE STUDY OF LIFE

"Yuck! What is that smell?" These statements were often heard in science classes, especially in Anatomy class when the students were dissecting the fetal pig. Students will will remember the odor even if they forget the names of the structures. "I enjoyed seeing the make-up of the inside of the pig," Jill Rood stated.

In life science students learned about vertebrates and invertebrates and animal behavior; they also studied plants. "My favorite thing about science is that I like Mr. Schrems," said Kristie Kaufman.

LEARNING

TO FIGURE AND COMPUTE

Learning to figure and compute mathamatical problems can be a very challenging skill. Although solving math poblems might have come easy to some students, others had to spend more time and effort.

Many different math classes were available for students at different levels. Algebra was one type of math class offered. Lisa Douglas admits, "The story problems can get pretty hard at times."

Another class was geometry. "The hardest part about Geometry is remembering all of the proofs, theorems, and corollaries." said Lisa Dupuis. "I enjoy geometry because it's challenging."

Computer classes were also being offered to those students interested. Three seniors, Frank Gulczinski, Evan Schemm and Scott Crafard attended a computer competition at SVSU. As a team they placed fourth which was the highest for Class B schools.

Many students found that the time and effort they had put into mastering their assignments was well worth the satisfaction they felt when they had completed them.

NEW CLASSES

BUILDING NEW IDEAS

The addition of Business Machines and Computer Applications was a change for the Business department. It was added on to prepare the students for the age of the computer. "In Computer Applications, we learn how to create files, and to use the computer when writing a business letter," said Gretchen Michelson. In Business Machines they also learned touch control on the calculators and computerized payroll procedures .

Second year Accounting was a little different for some students. It was an extension of the skills learned from first year accounting. " I plan on running my own restaurant someday so taking accounting classes were very useful for me," said Kory Schimmoller.

Another new class was General Business and Recordkeeping. General Business was an introduction to the business world; Recordkeeping consisted of six projects which involved students in keeping the records for different types of businesses.

All students were required to take a semester of typing and a semester of computer literacy.

WORKING TOGETHER

TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

In I.L.C classes students learned reading, math, and study skills. The learning was more individualized than in regular classes. "In I.L.C. we learn a lot of things; we learn how to spell, read, and listen better. We get more help from the teachers in I.L.C than other students in regular classes would get from their teachers." stated Junior Tracy Mellon

I.L.C stands for Individual Learning Center. Mrs. Schneider taught communications and writing; she also counseled students. Mrs. Ayers taught English, communication, and study skill classes. Mrs. Hilton had human development, history, and math classes. Miss York taught studeants in science, geography, government, reading, and math sections.

CREATIVE MINDS

EXPRESSING IDEAS THROUGH PAINTINGS

What do art students do? They work hard. They do all kinds of projects, some intricate and some easy. Lorrie Moore said she took the class because she loves art and because it's the only class where she can really be creative. She would like to go into a career which involves art.

Rodney Mills said he took the class because he plans to major in art when he gets out of high school. He thinks he has a definite future in art but he doesn't plan to be a commercial artist. He would like to own an art gallery and also do his own art work. He added, "Time is a restriction of the mind."

Jenny Zuchschwerdt explained one of her art projects in detail. She did an airbrush picture of Freddy Kruegar from the the "Nightmare on Elm Street" tape cover. She first brought in a plain white sheet, then she drew the picture on the sheet with the help of a projector. She experimented with the airbrush to get used to it. Then, she simply painted him on. When finished, she liked it.

From Art I, Jenny Portner said, "What is fun about this class is we get to choose the things we do." Some students painted Christmas pictures on the windows at Zauel Library. Students also silkscreened sweatshirts and t-shirts. Some students created paintings with basic designs and colors. — Billie Jo LeTourneau and Chris Heath

NEW CREATIONS

TAKE SHAPE IN INDUSTRIAL ED CLASSES

Art is defined as the special skill required by those who practice one of the fine arts. Industrial arts fit this definition.

Wood I students started the year by making shelves and candlesticks; then they created more difficult projects such as end tables. "Making my end table was my favorite project. It took between six to eight weeks to make," commentedJenny Portner. "In Wood II we have more freedom when using the equipment, my favorite project was my curio cabinet," said Karl Portner

In Metals students created many useful tools: hammers, C-clamps, and punches. "Basically shop class in my opinion is a mixture of casting, welding, machining, and sheet metal work," commented Craig Chambers

Mechanical Drawing consisted of drawing and dimensioning different types of objects. "I enjoy working with tools and instruments that enable you to draw with precision and this is indeed a large characteristic of this class," commented Steve Slasinski.

GETTING STRONGER

THROUGH CONDITIONING AND PHYS ED CLASS

The boys were always working on getting stronger; last year was the girls turn. In a new physical education class girls were working out to get in shape. "In conditioning we are swimming in addtion to weight lifting. It is somthing different, and it is heathy," said Rachel Denter.

Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays students worked on their weight lifting. Tuesdays and Thursdays they had aerobics.

For freshman there was physical ed and health class. "We have completed our unit on CPR. Also, we are learning nutrition and exercising," said Jeannie Forrest.

In conditioning the grade was based on the students increase in their weight lifting ability. They also had to dress and to wear shoes everyday.

PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

Home Ec gives skills students can use

For you who do not plan to live with your parents forever, how will you manage your household when you are out on your own? Many students have already begun preparing for life on their own.

Introductory Home Economics students learned cooking skills. "It is teaching us to manage a household" said freshman Kim Gilbert. As a part of cooking, students also learned nutrition and how to prepare well-balanced meals.

In Foods and Housing students found useful techniques. Students in this class were required to prepare an ethnic dish and then write a report about the country of its origin.

Still another class was Family Relations and Child Development. "This class gives you a realistic view of the future." said Kelly Hauk. In this class students discussed many issues fron divorce to suicide.

All of these classes will be helpful in future years. — Becky Ferrante

POM-PON

A NEW BEGINNING

The Pom-Pon squad was a little different from past years. Out of these eighteen girls who were on the squad ten were returning members, while eight were new squad members. "With eight girls being new, it was harder to teach them the basics of pom-pon like how to shake and run," replied Julie Stolzenbach. Melissa Kraphol stated that "one of the most exciting moments was when we placed third at regional competition, because we had such a new squad."

The squad also worked on fund raisers. "We held car washes, sold Christmas bell ornaments, and sponsored dances after games as well as the Homecoming dance," Melisssa stated.

One reason the squad had to raise money was for summer camp which all members attended. Alicia Moore commented "Summer camp was hard because we had to learn a routine in an hour, perfect it, and perform it that night, but camp gives you the experience to become a better Pom-pon girl." — Richelle Wunderle

PUMPED UP AND ROWDY

BOOSTS THE VIKING SPIRIT

"We've got spirit, we'll show you how to catch that Viking Spirit Now! C-A-T-C-H! Catch it now!" This cheer motivated the fans throughout football and basketball seasons. The cheerleaders got the fans in the crowd pumped up by what they called "crowd cheers." These cheers involved the fans responding verbally.

Each of the squads spent about three to four hours a week practicing for the games. In between practicing and cheering at the games, they must find time to raise money for summer camps and competitions. "Some of the fund raisers were car washes, selling candy, and passing out water to the runners at the Saginaw 8K run," stated Cyndi Wellman a four year varsity cheerleader.

"I wanted to support and promote school spirit," that was one reason why sophomore Nikki Neal wanted to become a junior varsity cheerleader. Another reason was so she "could be active all year long."

All in all, cheerleaders put a lot of time and energy into extending the spirit that they have as a squad, out to the fans and the players.

JR/SR PROM MEMORIES

The decorations were hung and excitement was in the air. On Friday, April 21, the juniors started decorating Havens Elementary, the sight of the 1989 Junior/Senior Prom. Saturday, April 22, brought the usual excitement that everyone had predicted.

Significant prom memories started hours before couples arrived at the dance. Girls started getting ready very early in the day. "I started getting ready about 11:30 in the morning," stated senior Liz Hicks. Guys on the other hand had less to worry about. Junior Brian Sparshu "began getting ready at about 5:00 in the afternoon."

As couples came through the doors, they checked in with Miss Ederer and were given a souvenir key chain which resembled a Prom ticket. As they walked through the teal and white streamers into the dance area, they were greeted by even more decorations including streamers, balloons, and confetti. The best part of the prom was different for everyone. "The slow dances were the best part," according to senior Mike Wolinski. But to Liz "the best part of Prom were the decorations."

The theme of Prom was Now & Forever. This theme was evident in decorations made into graffetti sprayed on brick walls. Another addition to the decorations were the rooms where couples could sit and talk. These rooms were located to the sides of the dance area. One room was decorated with teal walls and paper lattice while the other room featured candles and silver moons and stars. This idea was very popular. "I ended up liking it at Havens because there were places to sit in the rooms," stated senior Cheryl Losee.

The dance ended at about 12:45 a.m. with the senior class song "Gettin' Better". Although opinions were split on the best part of Prom, dining at The Heritage House or Heatherfields, dancing at Prom, or going out to parties after, one thing was clear, this special night would be remembered NOW AND FOREVER. — Merri Kay Oldeck

FRIENDS AND FUN

AT CEDAR POINT AND SAW MILL CREEK

Senior trip started in the rain Wednesday, May 31, 1989. Three buses loaded with seniors and chaperones pulled out at 5:45 a.m. and headed for Cedar Point.

After a pit stop at McDonalds in Dundee, Ohio, the seniors were back on the road. The buses arrived at the park at 11:00 a.m. Everyone enjoyed a day of rides including the new Magnum XL as well as the Gemini and the water rides. Some seniors played the games and won prizes.

At 6:30 p.m. everyone proceeded to Saw Mill Creek, Sandusky. Majority of the seniors enjoyed swimming but some had special assignment which was to throw Mr. C into the pool.

After dinner, the senior giftatory was presented. Classmates danced until 12:30 a.m.

The buses left Ohio at 1:00 and arrived at SV at 4:55 a.m., Thursday, June, 1.

GRADUATION

A Moment to Remember

To some the most memorable moment in high school might have been their graduation. It is a time for students to go out into the "real world" as our parents would say, but it also is time to look back and think of all the good memories that had occurred over the past twelve years.

The Baccalaureate Service was held Sunday, June 4, 1989, at 3:00 p.m. The Invocation, Vesper Address, and Benediction were given by Reverend John Stolzenbach.

The Commencement Service was held Tuesday, June 6, 1989, at 7:30 p.m. Speeches were given by Julie Dunkle, the Salutatorian and Frank Gulczinski, the Valedictorian. STUDENT LEADERSHIP

AT IT'S VERY BEST

Preparing school functions throughout the year was accomplished by the student council; careful planning and dedication were needed. "We all work together as a team to make important decisions that the whole student body would appreciate," stated Cherie Call.

Student council came up with a live version of the game Clue. It involved a murder, suspect, secret room, and a weapon. All classes participated.

A lot of time and effort went into being a class officer. They were responsible for the arranging of class activities, fund raisers, and the handling of the class money.

The freshmen class officers worked with a representative from Jostens, to make a slide show presentation to help the sales of class rings. They also sponsored a ski night at Bintz.

Sophomores worked as a class to build their float for homecoming and also had fund raisers including a car wash.

Juniors were very busy with the planning of the junior/senior prom. To help with costs, they had a candy sale.

Seniors worked with teachers and community officials for the first community beautification project. They worked as teams at different sites throughout the community; their jobs were completed on May 12. — Jill Rood

ASGARD CHAPTER OF NHS

PUSHING OURSELVES TO THE LIMITS

December 5, 1988, the night honor students looked forward to with anticipation and excitement. The night when a superior student became a real, live member of the National Honor Society. In his importance of scholarship speech, Frank Gulczinski said that honor students have "a desire to learn and acheive."

"It's a lot of work," said second year member Lisa Willman, "But it is worth it." For the most part members were involved in community service.

Service was a very important part of NHS according to Vice President Angie Stevens. "This year's Honor Society will be challenged to ongoing service with optimism and in the end we will benefit ourselves as well as others."

Being inducted into NHS built character according to NHS Secretary, Cheryl Losee in her speech during the induction ceremony. "Character is not received but it is developed through achievement. NHS members really are achievers. They are leaders in our school."

"NHS singles out high school students who have qualities such as responsibility and dependability," claimed President Julie Dunkle in her speech on the importance of leadership.

Scholarship, Leadership, Service, and Character were traits which every member of NHS posessed. And people with these traits comprised Swan Valley's National Honor Society. — Tammy Smith

CARAMBA!

WHAT A WILD BUNCH

When you join the Spanish club, you are not just joining another club but a society that vows to one day speak the Spanish language.

Students also join the club for other reasons. "I just wanted to see how it works because I have never been in a club before," stated Fay Solis.

Tom Swidorski said, "I thought it would be a fun thing to do having known about the ski trip and other activities."

Jenny Murphy also added, "It has helped me learn about the Spanish way of life and their cultural activities."

The club held a dance. The theme of the dance was "Generic" and the DJ was "Almost Live". Besides the dance the members also had their annual Halloween and Christmas parties. The Halloween party was held at Jacqui Boufford's house. The Christmas party held at Chrissy Schrems' was also open to all French club members. Going along with the Christmas theme, the Spanish club and classes did their caroling throughout the school hallways.

On March 4, 1989 the Spanish club went on a ski trip to Sugarloaf. The trip started at 6 A.M. Saturday morning and did not end until the skiers and Mrs. Tesauro arrived back at 12:30 A.M. the next morning.

By the time the year was finished, club members had made some new friends and many memories.

DINNER AT JUSTINES

CLUB FRANCAIS

Second Year For French Club

For French speaking students, this was the second year the French club was offered. Wendy Parent stated, "I feel the French club is important because it exposes people to the differences in culture, habits, and language."

In early March, the French club put on a semi-formal masked ball in celebration of the Mardi Gras holiday. Leading up to the dance, clues were given to reveal the theme, "Le carnival de Monaco."

Dinner at Justines was attended again this year. Janel Heath commented, "It gives us a chance to sample real French cuisine and introduces us to some of the French culture." Dinner consisted of cheese souffle, fresh fruit ice, breast of chicken with honey and pepper sauce, poached apples, salad, hard rolls, chocolate mousse, sparkling apple cider, and chocolate truffles.

The French club also participated in parties for la veille de la Toussaint and la fete de Noel. — Jill Rood

For Drama . . . A Class Act

They're loud . . . they're boisterous . . . they're the 1989 drama class. They presented F.L.I.P.P.E.D., the story of three sisters who become involved in the "Female Liberation Idealist Party for Permanent Equality & Democracy."

Everyone who took drama this year liked being a part of the traditional end of the year play. "I want to be an actress and I liked the experience I got from the class," said sophomore, Lexie Orr, who played Myra in the play.

"I have many opportunities to speak publicly," explains senior, Steve Thibodeau, Clyde Pendleton in F.L.I.P.P.E.D., "The drama class has enhanced my ability to speak publicly and to make my speaking more dramatic."

"I feel the class broadened my horizons and I met many new and interesting people," says junior, Jenny Birnbaum, Lynn in the play.

F.L.I.P.P.E.D. was the only production put on by the 1989 drama class. "There were many different social groups in the class," said Lexie, "and it is very difficult to mix those groups and get a job done well, but I think we did O.K." — Tammy Smith

A CHANGE OF PACE

Yearbook was very different from the usual class. The yearbook was a team effort; if one person failed to do his part, the rest of the class would have to pick up the slack and do the work.

Members of the Valhalla staff planned the book, gathered information by interviewing students and staff, wrote the copy four times before entering it into the computer and fitting it, and made page layouts. "I wanted to play a part in making my senior year memorable by being on the yearbook staff," said senior,Richelle Wunderle, first year.

When asked how she would define being a member of the yearbook staff Becky Ferrante answers, "Being a member of the Valhalla staff means being part of a team, working together to meet deadlines, and to produce a book with a history of the school year."

The staff was divided into four groups. Karen Frost, Kris Goodenough, and Tina Lopez planned and prepared the album section. The academics section was completed by Becky Ferrante, Chris Heath, Billie Jo Le Tournea, and Stacy Petree. Jill Rood, Tammy Smith, and Richelle Wunderle designed the activities section.

Sports were covered by Robin Murray, Jeff Reid, and Tom Skulley. Lori Hansen and Stacy Schultz were responsible for all ad layouts. Amy Jeschawitz was editor; Samantha Scott was business manager. Adviser was Mrs. Nassif.

PLAYING TO PERFECTION

Being a band member was a big responsibilty; members were required to play at football games, basketball games, and concerts.

The band sold candy and a variety of Christmas gifts. The money went for the Cedar Point trip. Members also held a rock-a-thon on April 8-9, 1989, to raise money for the marching band.

The band provided entertaining performances, such as the Christmas concert and the spring concert. It also participated in a Band Festival at Carrollton on March 18, 1989.

Festival was a scored performance. Many schools participated in this event.

"Everyone in band is like a big family with Mr. Mike as our guardian." stated Jerry Hall

WORKING IN THE LIBRARY

A JOB AND A HALF

Why is the library a job and a half? Because of the many duties involved, that's the reason. Mrs. Watt alone took care of a number of them. "I just do it, I don't even think about it," stated Mrs. Watt, assistant librarian.

Mrs. Watt and librarian Miss Whitman alternated the days which they were at the middle school library and the high school library. "First thing is figuring out which building to go to," said Miss Whitman, Mrs. Watt thought working in the library was a good confidence booster for students. According to first year library aide, Tracy Mellon, "This class made me more outgoing. Last year I never used to talk to anybody."

Working in the library involved more than organizing books on shelves. Among the many duties of a library aide were tracking down overdue books, troubleshooting equipment, taking care of purchasing orders, processing new books, maintaining records, and just plain helping out and working with students and staff. — Tammy Smith

DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

Students Against Driving Drunk tried to change students attitudes about driving under the influence of alcohol.

Shelly Bilitzke, representing SADD, stated, "I feel that we need to make more students aware of the dangers when drinking and driving. Our goal is to make people think twice before driving while drunk."

Members met twice a month to discuss future activities. They made posters for upcoming events and to stress ideas, such as, "Drinking and driving can kill a friendship. Don't drink and drive." SADD also participated in several fund raisers, selling candy canes for Christmas and carnations for Sweetest Day.

Money earned by SADD was put to good use. They sponsored a senior book scholarship which went to an active senior member. They also had a public service announcement that was put out in the spring. — Jill Rood

JV AND VARSITY BASKETBALL IS HOT

VIKES FIRE UP!

Toughness and aggressiveness were evident this season for the JV and Varsity girls basketball teams. The captains for the JV were Jenny Ludlum, Robin Murray, and Lisa Korkus. The JV team had an exciting season which ended a record of 17-3. "One important factor was that we had a lot of talent coming from the nintht graders," said Cherie Call.

The JV had a triumphant season this year that the fans enjoyed. "I think the team's hard work at practice partly contributed to our victories. Most of all, I think our ability to work together as one unit helped our excellent season," said Melanie Manial. Swan Valley was paced by Melissa Wieneke who was its leading scorer and Lisa Korkus its leading rebounder.

The Varsity ended its season 9-12. Ann McIntyre and Angie Stevens were co-captains. "This year we all pulled together to try and make things work," said Holly Kenel.

The prominant scorer for the Varsity was Ann McIntyre who was named to the All-Tri-Valley conference second team and was the team's MVP. Lori Busch was the leading rebounder and was selected for honorable mention in the conference. Angie Stevens and Julie LaMountain were also named to the conference honorable mention.

SOFTBALL TEAMS RISE AMONG STATE'S ELITE

RANK NUMBER ONE

Swan Valley was extremely proud that their softball teams had impeccable records. Both the JV and Varsity captured the Tri-Valley Conference Championships. Varsity went on to superb success by posting a 40-0 regular season record and a 42-1 overall record. Amy Gustin pitched several no-hitters through out the season with Torri Vasey faring equal to the task. Lori Busch, Julie Brookins, along with Gustin provided an ample supply of the Viking offense. The Varsity won tournaments at the Bay City Handy, Hemlock, Swan Valley and Midland.

The JV won the Swan Valley Invitational by defeating Chesaning, Bay City All Saints and Heritage. The JV finished with an outstanding slate of 24-2. Stacy Kennelly and Mindy Dennison threw tremendous to earn but all the Viking wins. Everyone "chipped in" to provide a big bat for the JV offense. A good balance of power was evident as runs were scored by different people consistently. "Our best game was against Garber when we rallied in the last inning for nine runs for an eventual win in extra innings," said Tina Tarrant. — Robin Murray

WINNING AND LOSING IN 1988-1989 SEASON

The J.V. volleyball team had an outstanding season. It was undefeated in the Tri-Valley Conference, but lost to Valley Lutheran.

In Bay City Handy for the Mitton Bay Classic Volleyball tournament, the squad took first in the pool play and ended up winning the tournament.

"Our best game was against Birch Run because they were very good and we had to defeat them to maintain our record," said Lisa Korkus.

The J.V. ended their season with 8 wins and 2 losses.

The Varsity had a little different seasson compared to the J.V.

"Our team is young in losing all our Seniors, and we should improve next year," said Ann McIntyre.

The Varsity members did give it their best shot even though they ended the season with a record of 13-24. Hopefully next year their season will be better.

Chris Jagels was the most valuable player.

A YOUNG SQUAD
BUT BIG IN EFFORT

The Swan Valley Cross Country team had a pretty good season considering it was plagued by player changes and injuries. The Vikings were lead by Freshman Angie Grillo, consequently was named "Best Girl Runner", and Sophomores Robbie Berden and Matt Diebel, and Seniors Marc Prevost and Jenelle LaMountain.

In the early season the Vikings had good runs turned in by Juniors Lori Moore and Jennifer Burnbaum, and for the boys Matt Diebel and Robbie Berden did likewise. Toward the end of the season Angie Grillo and Robbie Berden were the standouts.

The Cross Country team posted a 2-7 record, which failed to show the teams true talent. Overall the 88' season was not one to be ashamed of and many acomplishments were achieved. For the girls Angie Grillo received the MVP, and for the boys Robbie Berden received the MVP. — Jeff Reid

VIIKES GIVE IT THEIR ALL

RACE TO VICTORY

Although the girls track team did not have an exceptional season, they practiced hard and worked to improve themselves.The season may have started out slow, but the girls did finished the season with a 3 and 9 record. "Even though we were a small team we worked together." admitted sophomore Julie Kuch.

Even though the team suffered many losses, there were many individual team members who excelled. Some first place finishers were Jenelle LaMountain in the mile, Julie Dunkle in the 220m dash, Julie LaMountain in the high jump, and Angi Grillo in the 100 meter dash. The 880 relay team scored fourth in the conference meet.

INDIVIDUAL TRACKMEN & RELAY TEAMS HAVE A GREAT YEAR

SV track team expected a great year and accomplished it. Numerous good runs by John Wolinski and jumps by Pat Apsey helped the Vikes.

What won the team its victories was its relay teams. John Wolinski, Todd Rulapaugh, Wayne Otter, and Mike Niethammer combined for 45.5 seconds in the 400 meter relay and placed sixth in the regionals . . . In the 1600 relay, Mike Burk, Craig Halm, John Wolinski, and Tom Wujkowski ran 3.39.6 seconds to place seventh in the regionals.

Craig Halm placed sixth in low hurdles with a mark of 42.3 seconds. He also captured four first places — in high jump, high hurdles, low hurdles, and 1600 relay. Against Millington, Mike Niethammer took two firsts (in 800 and 400 meter runs) and second in the long jump. Tom Wujkowski was first in the 100 meter run.

Winning's the Sign for . . .

BOYS BASKETBALL '89

Freshmen boys had the best season of the three basketball teams. They compiled an overall record of 12-8. "Consistency was the key to our nine straight victories," said Matt Matuzak. The team had equally strong ingredients in offense and defense.

Some of the stand out players include: Kevin Hepinstall, Brian Blair, Adam Clark, Matt Matuzak, and Dan Schell. Perhaps the most exciting game was home against Frankenmuth. In that contest, the Vikings prevailed 49-42.

JV basketball season was a roller coaster ride. One night the team members would come out and play sound; another time they would play hard, but end up on the short end. They lost a few games by a few points, but would bounce back and win gracefully. The JV team ended with a 11-9 slate. Some of the stars on the team were: Tom Wujkowski, Todd Nickel, Jeremy Kaul, Dave Wilson, and Brent Eurich.

Varsity basketball did not fare as well as they would have anticipated.

Jim Bakos, Brian Sparschu, JJ Waterman, Paul LaFond, and Mike Masterovsky were headline players throughout the season. Brent Call was the MVP, Tri-Valley Conference First Team, and All-Area Class B Second Team. — Tom Skulley

Rain and cold weather were the primary reasons why the 1989 baseball season was delayed. Both the JV and Varsity had fine seasons. Perhaps, the largest difference this year was the playing field here at Swan Valley. The fences were moved back to decrease the number of home runs. Dugouts were installed along with a fence in front of them. The backstop was increased as well to keep the ball in the field more. A new surface of dirt was put on as well to insure quality play.

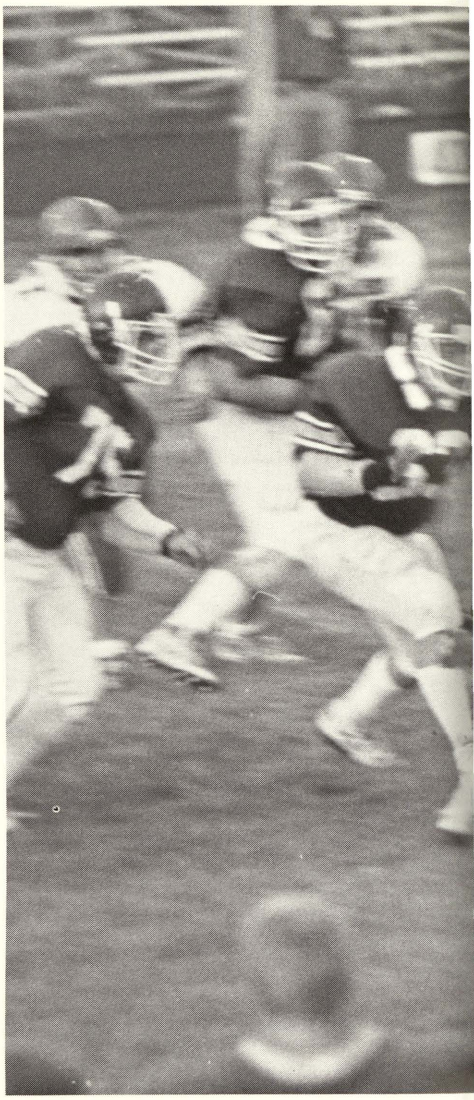
"We now have a field to be proud of," said Varsity team member John Paulus. Perhaps, the field was in the best form since it was first started back in the '70's.

JV Baseball had an overall record of 18-9. Kevin Hepinstall led the team in almost every offensive category. Rick Ochoa, Todd Nickel, Eric Weber, Brian Masterovsky, and Chris Nunn were the best pitchers on the squad. In some of the close games lost, the Vikings just couldn't get that hit to solidify the win. They had two impressive victories versus Bullock Creek that put them in the hunt for first place.

As for the Varsity, they fared well with a 22-12 season. Jason Nickel and John Paulus were named All-TVC honorable mention. Mike Masterovsky, Brent Call, and Brian Sparschu were named to the All-TVC first team. MVP was Mike Masterovsky who with John Paulus, Jason Nickel, and Brent Call had a fine season at the plate. They supplied much of the offensive attack. Kurt Weber, Jason Nickel, and Brian Sparschu threw the Vikes to their 22 wins. — Tom Skulley

LOOK AHEAD, VIKING FOOTBALL IS

LEADING THE WAY



JV Football sparkled in the '88 season posting an 8-1 record. They were unbeaten on the road, which showed the team's determination away from home. "We were playing with so much confidence," stated Steve Burton.

Garber was the only team who gave the Vikings an iota of trouble. Garber dethroned Swan Valley on their own field. Otherwise, the team was impeccable beating everyone on their schedule.

On the other side, Freshman Football did not fare as well as their upper-classmen allies. A 3-5 campaign is what the team earned.

Perhaps, it was not a successful season on the scoreboard, but the team had some fun. "Mt. Pleasant was our best game", said Aaron Demand. The Viking Freshmen closed their season with a 36-12 win over the Oilers at home. — Tom Skulley

VARSITY FOOTBALL EXPLODES

AH . . . BOOM!!!!!!

High expectations spirited the varsity football team at the onset of training camp. An early season defeat at the hands of Hemlock simmered Swan Valley's hopes. That minor set back didn't dampen the Swan Valley hopes at all. In fact, the team racked up four consecutive wins, three of which were on the road.

An important win was the victory over Garber 48-6. "That win seemed to trigger our team," said Mike Burke.

Our 1988 co-captains of Mike Masterovsky and Paul LaFond motivated us and formed a nucleus for the entire team, commented End Todd Rulapaugh.

Birch Run crushed the purple and gold hopes by eliminating them from a bid to win the conference championship. Birch Run walked in and edged the home team 20-19 in a well fought football battle. "Birch Run was our toughest opponent due to their strong passing attack," explained Bret Pelkey.

The following week, still stunned by the loss, Swan Valley was beaten for the third time 19-6 by Frankenmuth. The Vikings were in the campaign for a play-off bid until those final two losses.

A 6-3 season is something to be proud of but doesn't reveal how strong the team was throughout the season. Paul LaFond was named all-conference on offense and defense. Other honors were: Jason Nickel, 1st team defense and team MVP; 2nd team offense was Brad Konsdorf, Mike Masterovsky and Brent Call. 2nd team defense honors went to Brad Konsdorf and Brent Call. Honorable Mention notified Jason Adams, Mitch Uhlman, and Tom Wujkowski.

A third place finish in the Tri-Valley Conference is what the Vikings earned, but is less than what they had anticipated. One thing is for sure, they'll be hungry for more next year and in the seasons to come. — Tom Skulley

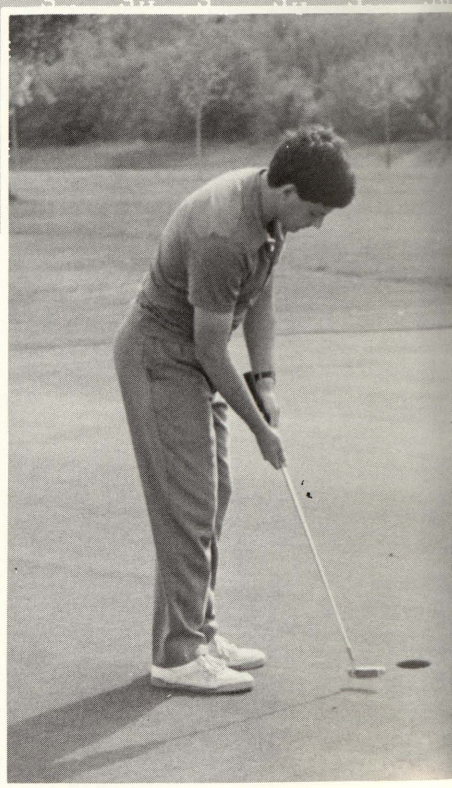
A WINNING SHOT IN THE FIRST MATCH OF THE SEASON



Last season's golf record hardly reflects the talent and the time that the team put into the 1988 campaign. The varsity golf squad, which was led by seniors Dennis Berry and Frank Gulczinski, posted a 1-11 record and also posted a 0-2 mark for the tournament play.

Senior Frank Gulczinski felt that crushing the Nouvel Panthers in the season opener was the teams most memorable moment because it was the teams only victory. Junior Teddy Billy just missed All-Tri Valley Honors for the varsity.

On the other hand the junior varsity golfers posted a better mark and brought a new hope for Coach Reeder. The J.V.'s were led by Juniors Matt Williams and Jose Medina and Sophomore Matt Goschke. Also the golf teams went through a new transition which helped to get many of the members needed playing experience in tournaments and important matches. — Jeff Reid

MAKE THE MOVE TO THE TOP

During wrestling season there were many different players who rose to the occasion at different times. Jason Adams (junior) and Brian Adams (sophomore) were two such men.

Together with the help of Torry Butler (junior) and Mark Mc Coy (junior), the Vikes turned in a record.

At the Saginaw County Wrestling tournament, the Vikes had six medal winners: Steve Sanderson, Mark Mc Coy, Torry Butler, Brian Adams, Jason Adams and Scott Stroik. The Vikings consequently scored more points than they had in the past seven years!

Also Jason Adams and his brother Brian went on to Regional Competition which took place in Alma. — Jeff Reid

Excellence

Excellence is achieved by he who pursues it,
By he who goes the extra mile beyond the everyday routine.
Excellence is achieved through dedication and commitment,
By setting high standards and fulfilling the ultimate dream,
By trying harder to become the best he can de when he wants to give up.
Excellence is going beyond what is expected and performing to the best of his ability.
One who excels becomes an example —
Someone to whom peers look up,
For he has set his standards and goals
And strives to make his dreams come true.

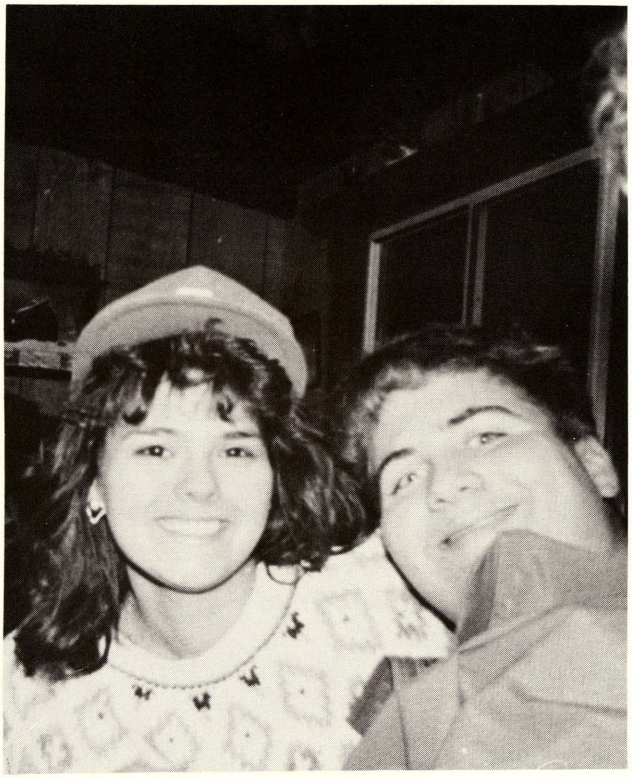
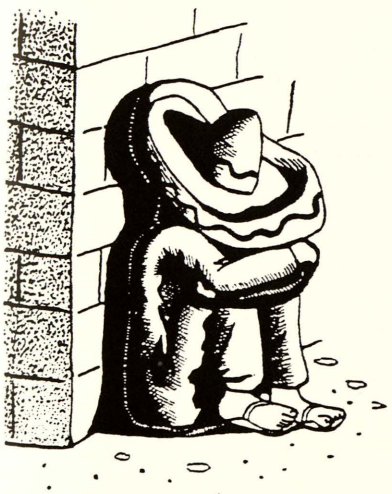
LOS NIÑOS SERÁN NIÑOS
Los miembros de La Tertulia se esfuerzan por coger los dulces despues de romper la piñata.

LAS CARAS SONRIENTES
Jacqui Boufford and Steve Slasinski pausan durante la fiesta Navideña para mostrarnos los dientes blanquísimos.



CLUB DE ESPANOL



La Tertulia de Swan Valley hace muchas cosas juntas. Los miembros van de excursion de esquiar y celebran los diás especiales, prueban la comida y platos típicos de las regiones hispánicas. Sobre de todo tratan de mejorarse en el idioma español y su cultura.
